Restoration of the Historic Ferryboat Klamath

Between 1850 and 1939 there were 120 ferryboats in operation on San Francisco Bay

The boats came in many shapes and sizes and carried:

- passengers
- cars
- trains
- horses
- livestock
- agriculture
- and all manners of other items

They hosted:

- marathon card games,
- live music
- dining halls
- well-stocked bars and saloons
- had room for running and exercise
- barbershops
- pinball machines
- and of course children "with noses pressed close to the glass panes ... often entertained for the entire voyage."

The completion of the Golden Gate Bridge and Oakland Bay Bridges, and later the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge, initiated the eventual demise of ferryboats on the Bay.

One by one, the stately boats left the Bay Area, were scrapped, destroyed or otherwise lost.

In 1979, only 14 could be accounted for in various locations in the United States.

Since then, 9 more have been destroyed or scrapped, leaving just five historic ferryboats today.

GENERAL POLICIES

10. Mooring of Historic Ships.

A minor amount of fill created by the mooring of an historic ship may be authorized pursuant to Commission Regulation Section 10704. Up to four new historic ships in addition to historic ships authorized as of July 20, 2000 may be permitted in Open Water Areas on the Northeastern Waterfront.

GEOGRAPHIC-SPECIFIC POLICIES

Northeastern Waterfront - Open Water Basins

3. Within Open Water Basins, limit new fill to:

c) Berthing facilities, such as mooring dolphins and buoys, pile-supported or floating platforms, etc., for berthing of commercial vessels (vessels up to approximately 300 feet in length) and temporary ceremonial and visiting ships at the boundary of the Open Water Basins, as provided below:

i) In the Broadway Open Water Basin, existing berthing facilities for the historic Ferry Boat Santa Rosa and Bar Pilots should continue to be allowed. Limited lay berthing of public transportation and excursion vessels, up to about 300 feet in length, and temporary berthing of ceremonial and visiting ships should be allowed as long as the berthing of moored vessels is balanced with the preservation of views and the need to provide pier frontage for transient berthing;

g) Historic ships:

i) permitted as of July 20, 2000.

GEOGRAPHIC-SPECIFIC POLICIES (2)

Northeastern Waterfront - Plan Implementation Requirements

4(n). Future amendments of the SAP, as adopted on July 20, 2000, affecting the Northeastern Waterfront Area (Pier 35 to China Basin), may only be approved if the Commission finds that the revised public benefits and revised development entitlement would be in balance and the public benefits would be sufficient to warrant the Commission finding that the revised balance of public and private benefits would be necessary to the health, safety and welfare of the public in the entire Bay Area.
