

Port of San Francisco FERRY SYSTEM

Since 1875 ferries have been a primary means of transportation in the San Francisco Bay Area. The historic Ferry Building at the foot of Market Street, was established as the main terminus for people boarding and disembarking ferries to various locations in the Bay and Delta areas. Today, it continues to serve San Francisco's financial, commercial, and tourism centers, providing transportation to over 16,000 passengers daily. Ferry terminals at China Basin and Pier 41 primarily serve visitor attractions at AT&T Ballpark and Fisherman's Wharf with access to the lightrail system along The Embarcadero.
